ABOUT MAHATMA GANDHI MISSION (MGM)

Established in 1982 at Nanded, Maharashtra, Mahatma Gandhi Mission (MGM) is a charitable trust committed to education, human resource development and social welfare, inspired by Mahatma Gandhi's vision that "Literacy is of no value if it is not able to build up sound character.

"Registered under the Societies Registration Act, 1860, and the Bombay Public Trusts Act, 1950, MGM has grown into a leading educational organisation with 50 institutions across five cities – Nanded, Chhatrapati Sambhajinagar, Navi Mumbai and Parbhani in Maharashtra, and Noida in Uttar Pradesh (Delhi NCR). Through its diverse educational initiatives, MGM continues to strive for excellence, innovation and meaningful contributions to society.

ABOUT CONFERENCE

Beyond the Last Mile: Reimagining Community Health Nursing for a changing India

Community health nursing plays a vital role in promoting health, preventing illness, and ensuring access to quality healthcare, particularly among vulnerable populations in both urban , rural and hilly & tribal areas.In a rapidly changing healthcare environment, emerging technologies, innovative research approaches, and evolving public health priorities which offer new opportunities to strengthen community-based care.

The international conference, "Beyond the Last Mile: Reimagining Community Health Nursing for a Changing India," aims to bring together nursing professionals, academicians, researchers, public health experts, and policymakers to exchange knowledge, share experiences, and explore innovative and evidence-based approaches to community health nursing. The conference will focus on action research, artificial intelligence, telehealth communication, innovation and intellectual property, and the contribution of community health nursing towards achieving the Sustainable Development Goals.

Through expert deliberations and collaborative discussions, the conference seeks to inspire practical, inclusive, and sustainable solutions that strengthen community health nursing and improve healthcare access and outcomes in community.

AIM

The aim of the conference is to explore innovative, evidence-based, and technology-enabled approaches to strengthen community health nursing and improve equitable access to quality healthcare, particularly in underserved communities.

OBJECTIVES

- To promote innovative and evidence-based practices in community health nursing.
- To strengthen research skills, including action research and community-based research methods.
- To explore the application of artificial intelligence, telehealth, and digital technologies in community healthcare.
- To encourage innovation in health education, communication, patents, and intellectual property.
- To strengthen the role of community health nurses in addressing emerging public health challenges and achieving the Sustainable Development Goals.
- To facilitate knowledge exchange and collaboration among nursing professionals, researchers, healthcare experts, and policymakers.
- To identify practical and sustainable strategies for improving healthcare access and outcomes in underserved communities.
